

I would like the FCC to continue regulating broadband service. Large companies need to be reviewed periodically with respect to their rates and there must continue to be fair price competition with smaller internet providers.